

Evaluating Content

A practical guide to evaluating proposals, treatments and proposed content for TV broadcast

By Howard Thomas

Contents

Foreword
Chapter One
Quality programming
The purpose puzzle
Awards
Eyeballs
The box office
Achieving objectives
“Quality programming”
Why the word “quality” has to be avoided
Production values
The role of instinct
Evaluation
Chapter Two
Setting Objectives
The “To ...” expression
The outcome
The “To ...” expression
The outcome
Chapter Three
Taking risks
Phase One: the channel brief.
Phase Two: the request for proposals.
Phase Three: Evaluation
Selecting tools
Problems of dynamics
The numbers game
Observer bias
Role of the expert
Group dynamics
The main risks
Chapter Four

Designing evaluation

So the rule of triangulation.

RULE:

Chapter Five

Creativity Tools

Creativity

Brainstorming

The essence of Brainstorming

The four basic rules

The step-by-step process of brainstorming.

Reverse brainstorming

Making it happen

Concept fan

Let your brain do the work

Chapter Six

Problem Solving Tools

The Fishbone

The Mind Map

Chapter Seven

The Matrix

Tutorial

Chapter Eight

Features and BENEFITS

Benefits to audiences and broadcasters

Tutorial

Chapter Nine

Triangulation

What "satellites" can we use?

Chapter Ten

Scorecards

Chapter Eleven

Rubrics

What rubrics look like

Designing a rubric

Example

Rules for rubrics:

Chapter Twelve

Position Maps

Culture maps

Position Maps

Tutorial

Workshop the dimensions of the continua

Draw the map

Brainstorm the positions

Make a permanent record

Chapter Thirteen

The Semantic Differential

Pitfalls

Solutions

Chapter Fourteen

Chapter Fifteen

Your social sphere

Putting it all together

General entertainment and commercial programming

Step 1

Step 2

Step 3

Step 4

Step 5

Special interest programming

Chapter Sixteen

Working to Options

Step One – Generate options

Step Two – List Options

Step Three – discuss, analyse, evaluate, reject and test

Chapter Seventeen

How creative is the work?

Why do we need creativity?

Memory

New views of creativity

Culture.

Environment.

Ethics.

Qualities of creativity

Measuring creativity

A sample framework

Novelty

Resolution

Style

The matrix

Rubrics

Chapter Eighteen

Making evaluation easy

Chapter Nineteen

The Repertory Grid Technique

Background

Stage 1

Stage 2

Stage 3

Stage 4

References

Websites

Magazines

Books

Appendix One

Sample drama score sheet

Criteria

Scoring

Calculating the final score

Appendix Two

Audio production Rubric

Appendix Three

Studio production rubric

Appendix Four

Producer evaluation Rubrics

ANCHOR Evaluation Form